Dear Sir:

This is to confirm a telephone conversation between [redacted]
[redacted] Chief, Organized Crime Section, of your office and Supervisory Special Agent (SSRA) [redacted] of the Newburgh Resident Agency, on August 10, 1981, wherein the following facts were discussed:

During [redacted] a confidential source of this office was contacted by [redacted] an Organized Crime (OC) associate, who resides in the Las Vegas area. [redacted] requested source to travel to Las Vegas [redacted]

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] introduced source to [redacted] a reputed
OC figure from Newark, New Jersey, and his associates [redacted] [redacted] reportedly was instrumental in setting up this deal with [redacted]

[redacted]
[redacted]
Source has remained in contact with Dinapoli [redacted]

[redacted] Source has agreed to contact Dinapoli [redacted] to reinitiate the schemes in order to pay off the [redacted] debt from the previous conspiracy. Source further advised that the [redacted] deal in Las Vegas is still viable. It is anticipated that source will consensually record these conversations when meeting with Dinapoli and others. Source has given his written consent to utilize electronic monitoring devices and will testify in court.

ACTION MEMORANDUM

Attached is a copy of a communication which furnishes information concerning a current investigation. Exigent circumstances precluded a request for authorization in advance to utilize an electronic device to monitor and/or record private conversations with the consent of a party.

Under the provisions of Part III(b) of the Attorney General's Memorandum of September 22, 1980, to the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies entitled, "Monitoring Private Conversations with the Consent of a Party," emergency monitoring was instituted under the authorization of an appropriate official of the FBI.

Monitoring of this conversation was authorized in the best interest of law enforcement in that it was expected to provide corroborative evidence and to protect the individual utilizing the equipment.

Further monitoring is expected in this matter and it is requested that your office approve the use of this equipment for a period of 30 days beginning the date on which you grant authority.

Re New Rochelle teletype dated August 2, 1981.

Enclosed for receiving office is one copy of a memorandum from the Director to the Office of Enforcement Operations, Criminal Division, which authorizes you to use a transmitting and recording device as described in referenced communication.

Within 45 days of authorization, furnish the following information to FBI Headquarters regarding the use of this equipment:

1. Aided in directing course of investigation.
2. Obtained direct evidence.
3. Was used - no information of value obtained.
4. Furnished lead material.
5. Gave protection to Agent or person wearing recorder.
6. Was not used.

More than one of the above can apply in a case.

You are reminded that in those instances when the identity of the nonconsenting party is not known at the time of the request, a letterhead memorandum should be forwarded to the Bureau within 30 days following termination of monitoring which will identify the nonconsenting party.

In the event a renewal of this authority is deemed warranted, submit your request with full justification (Manual of Investigative Operations, Part II, Section 10, Page 1062) at least seven days prior to the expiration of the existing authority.

Sometime during [redacted] told source that he could make the appropriate connections for source to be introduced to the principals of some of the major casinos in Las Vegas to engage in a similar scheme wherein source would [redacted] and should the deal be finalized, kick-back a substantial portion of his fees to [redacted] for using his influence and contacts.

In furtherance of this, [redacted] introduced source to United States Senator CANNON. [redacted] told source that CANNON "was his boy" and would make the necessary introductions. Source initially met with Senator CANNON, [redacted] in the casino of the MGM Grand Hotel. CANNON arranged for source to meet with the [redacted] of the MGM Grand Hotel which source subsequently did. Source does not recall this individual's name but he did meet with him to initially discuss his [redacted] proposal and was furnished census data by him relating to the MGM Hotel employees to utilize for his proposal.

b7D

Source met with Senator CANNON on a second occasion with [redacted] at the MGM Grand shortly thereafter. However, source stated that CANNON was drunk, incoherent and very condescending and accordingly nothing was accomplished.

A third meeting was held with source, CANNON and [redacted] at which time CANNON arranged for source to meet with one of the principals of the Golden Nugget Hotel and Casino. Source met with this individual but does not recall his name. Once again, source gave his sales pitch and was furnished employee census data by this principal.

Source stated that he never engaged in criminal conversation with Senator CANNON regarding any kickbacks to him, however, [redacted] lead source to believe that he [redacted] would take care of CANNON for his efforts should any of the above deals be finalized.

Source also mentioned that he met an associate of [redacted] from New Jersey. First Name Unknown (FNU) [redacted] who together with [redacted] and other unidentified individuals were attempting to develop some property they owned on the Strip to build a hotel/casino. Source did not have much contact with [redacted] nor did he know the particulars of [redacted] relationship to [redacted]

During this period, source developed serious cash flow problems. The deal with the [redacted] was substantially delayed because the Nevada State Tax Commission attempted to impose a tax on the premium payments into the fund. Source was forced to litigate this decision, claiming that the United States Department of Labor (USDL) had jurisdiction over the fund under the Employee Retirement Insurance Security Act (ERISA). This litigation was not resolved until [redacted] in the Federal Courts in favor of source.

Further, source was indicted for embezzling monies [redacted]

[redacted] The indictment, trial, conviction and appeal was not finalized until May 11, 1981. Accordingly, source was not able to pursue the above deals.

b6
b7C
b7D

Prior to his [redacted] indictment [redacted] told him that [redacted] would no longer [redacted] because of jurisdictional dispute among various members of the Genovese Organized Crime Family in which [redacted] was purportedly a member.

Source was directed to attend a meeting in a Chinese restaurant [redacted] just adjacent to the [redacted] This meeting was attended by [redacted] VINCENT DI NAPOLI, a reputed member of the Genovese Organized Crime Family. [redacted] and an associate of [redacted] whom source described as a short grey-haired balding white male of Italian extraction, approximate age 55-60 years. This individual's leg was in a cast. Source sat at the bar in this restaurant and was not privy to the conversation except when he would occasionally be called to the table to answer questions regarding the specifics of [redacted] [redacted] The purpose of this meeting was to settle the jurisdictional dispute that had arisen between [redacted] DI NAPOLI.

A few weeks later another meeting was held in an unidentified restaurant in Little Italy, in the vicinity of [redacted] DI NAPOLI, [redacted] VINCENT GIGANTE, [redacted] and another unidentified individual whom source described as a white male, reddish complexion, balding, approximately 6' tall and of Irish extraction. This individual claimed to be in the union pension and welfare business as a consultant of some sort. DI NAPOLI indicated to source that this individual had participated in other criminal schemes [REDACTED] in New York City wherein DI NAPOLI had influence. Once again, source was not seated with these individuals but they constantly called him back to their table to ask him questions regarding his expertise [REDACTED] which questions he answered to their satisfaction. It was decided by VINCENT GIGANTE, who apparently arbitrated this dispute, that DI NAPOLI [REDACTED] It was further decided that DI NAPOLI would pay [REDACTED] for his time, effort, expenses and monies that [REDACTED] had advanced to source for operating expenses in Las Vegas. This cleared the books between source [REDACTED]

Source stated that [REDACTED] had advanced him approximately [REDACTED] during [REDACTED] He recalls [REDACTED] gave him one [REDACTED] personal check which he deposited into his business account, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] also lent him [REDACTED] cash. Source stated that the loan was open ended with no repayment schedule, interest or vigorish. Source further stated that he recalls cashing at least one [REDACTED] check for [REDACTED] through the above business account in order to accommodate [REDACTED] and launder his money.

Source stated that he had initially met DI NAPOLI prior to the above meetings [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Source was introduced to DI NAPOLI by his close friend DOMINIC TRINCERA (deceased), a reputed member of the Genovese Organized Crime Family.

After the above two meetings, DI NAPOLI told source that he wanted him to be his "Insurance Front" [REDACTED] in the New York City area through DI NAPOLI's influence with these respective union officials, [REDACTED] would be legitimate and competitive, however [REDACTED]

Motions denied in 'mob' case

By KEVIN McCOY
Staff Writer

A federal judge Friday rejected 21 of 26 defense motions to dismiss all charges or to sever defendants in the racketeering case against a reputed organized crime executioner from West Nyack, an influential New Jersey state senator and seven others.

In a ruling handed down in U.S. District Court in Newark, Judge H. Lee Sarokin sustained two minor motions and reserved decision on three others.

A federal grand jury returned a 36-count indictment April 27 charging the defendants, most of whom are either public officials or contractors in Hudson County, New Jersey, with a "pattern of racketeering" in giving or obtaining contracts for public buildings in exchange for bribes.

On June 29, the same grand jury released a superceding indictment containing the same allegations, but adding charges that the defendants failed to pay income taxes on the money in 1978 and 1979.

Charged in the indictment are Thomas Principe, 49, a reputed organized crime member whose last known address is 3 Wood Thrush Drive in West Nyack. Principe, who federal investigators believe is either dead — the victim of an organized crime execution — or in hiding, has been described by the FBI as "reputedly one of the most prolific hit men on the East Coast," and is considered a possible suspect in several gangland slayings in which .22-caliber revolvers were used.

He is charged with conspiring with New Jersey State Senator William V. Musto, 64 and seven others in a $440,000 bribery scheme involving Union City, N.J. building projects.

The other defendants include Lawrence Dentico, a 57-year-old Yonkers contractor identified by federal prosecutors as the "ranking underworld figure" in the scheme; Dominic D'Agostino, 64, a Garfield, N.J., contractor; Frank Scarafale, 52, former deputy police chief of Union City; John J. Powers, 40, president of the Union City Board of Education; Gildo Aimone, 65, executive director of the Union City Housing Authority; Anthony Genovese, 49, a Weehawken, N.J. architect; and John Bertoli, 49, a principal of Door Openings Corp. of New Jersey.

Dentico, Principe and D'Agostino are charged with using the Orlando Construction Co., a Bayonne, N.J. firm, to funnel payoffs to Musto and other Union City school and housing officials in return for tax abatements and construction contracts.

The firm, which built several public housing and school projects in 1978, was infiltrated by FBI agents who gathered information on alleged bribes to Musto and others between 1974 and 1980.

An owner of the construction company, Rudolph Orlandini, opted to cooperate with the government after learning of the FBI infiltration in 1979, according to court records. He is expected to be a key witness at the trial scheduled to begin Nov. 4 in Federal District Court in Newark.

Friday, besides refusing to dismiss charges on various grounds — including a defense argument that the motions were vague — Sarokin refused to allow separate trials for the defendants or to sever tax charges against them.

Sarokin, however, reserved decision on whether to dismiss the charges because of alleged discrimination in the grand jury process. And he granted motions to remove the prosecutor's emphasis from certain paragraphs of the indictment and to suppress evidence obtained from the wallet of one of the defendants.

Defense lawyers had argued the indictment was so complex the jury might be confused by all the evidence to be presented. They also said some of the defendants were only marginally related to the main charges and should not be tainted by being tried with the others.

In addition, the attorneys contended that some parts of the indictment did not actually involve crimes.

Arguing for dismissal of certain counts, Joseph A. Hayden Jr., the attorney for John J. Powers, president of the Union City Board of Education, argued that a jury could be overwhelmed and confused by the mass of evidence in the 46-count indictment.

"They'll say where there is smoke, there is fire, and so convict on at least some counts," said Hayden.

He also contended that inclusion of the tax counts in a later indictment was aimed at introducing prejudicial testimony about the life-style of the defendants. Hayden said by making tax charges the government would be allowed to bring in evidence proving the defendants had more property than they could possibly have obtained on the income stated in their tax returns.

Theodore Wells, attorney for Musto, Powers, Scarafale and Genovese, said the indictment was so complex that the defendants could not be assured of "due process."
